

HeinzSeed - 2009 Commercial Releases

Variety Name: H8504
Variety type: Full Season Ketchup
Adaptability regions: California, Europe
Disease resistance: VFFNP EFS
Vine type: Medium/Large vine with excellent, dense cover.
Fruit description: 79 grams, blocky
Processing: 5.5 °Brix
Compare to: H9663, H9494

Special notes: Requires normal rates of fertility and irrigation. Shows good field storage in California.

Variety Name: H4007
Variety Type: Second Early (118 days), Multiuse
Adaptability Regions: California, ENA
Disease Resistance: VFFNP (EFS)
Vine Type: Medium/Large semi-prostrate
Fruit Description: 75 grams, jointless, blocky, very good color
Processing: 5.0 °Brix
Compare to: H9491

Special Notes: H4007 is a second-early maturing variety when grown under either direct-seed or transplant cultures. The fruit have very good color and are uniform in shape and size.

Variety Name: H4107
Variety Type: Mid Season, Low Viscosity Peel/Product
Adaptability Regions: Canada, Midwest U.S., New Zealand, Australia, Europe
Disease Resistance: VFF, (EFS)
Vine Type: Medium vine with excellent cover
Fruit Description: 72 grams, oval shape, smooth
Processing: 5.1 °Brix
Compare to: H3402, H9035

Special Notes: EFS, excellent foliage cover, good foliar health, very uniform fruit shape, size and smoothness. Extremely firm fruit with excellent field yield; average color.

